

Christine Valentin

---

Chief Operating Officer, World Ocean Council

Christine has 30 years of senior positions (international business development, strategy, CFO) in multicultural contexts in S&P 500 companies and smaller management owned businesses in France, the Netherlands and the US.

Today she is Board Member & Chief Operating Officer of the World Ocean Council, an international non profit based in Hawaii. As such she is leading the WOC efforts to develop and drive strategically focused action to ensure sustainable growth and visibility to the members of the ocean business community who believe in “Corporate Ocean Responsibility”.

Christine has degrees in Philosophy, American Literature, Political Science and Business from the Sorbonne, Sciences Po and Harvard Business School. More recently, she also graduated from France’s IHEDN. (Institut des Hautes Etudes de la Défense Nationale).