

Carlo Ricci
Maiella Verde Food Community

Italy

Carlo Ricci shows more than twenty years of working experience in the fields of rural and regional development. Currently he works both at local level, in designing and running development projects with particular focus on societal, tourism and agro-food sectors, and at national and European level as policy advisor, evaluator, coach and trainer in the same fields. He has particular experience with the Leader approach, for which he has been involved from various perspectives since 1991: starting as founding member of a Local Action Group and local development agent he became designer and coordinator of plans and programmes, furthermore he has been an expert of the European observatory from 1995 to 2000 and, later on, he has collaborated as advisor or evaluator with several EU and national institutions and networks (including the ex post evaluation at EU level of LEADER 2 Initiative). On mentioned topics he has published papers, realised methodological guides and held many lectures.
