

Clive Peckham
Nièvre Numérique

France

From pioneering local food networks and sustainable public catering in the UK as co-founder/coordinator of East Anglia Food Link in the 1990's/2000's; to currently empowering rural territories to co-design, build and operate local digital and community services with Nièvre Numérique in France. Clive has always sought to support or create partnerships and networks across cultural and political boundaries, that allow social, business and public entrepreneurs to discover, share and deliver change that adds value to both communities and individuals.
