ABOUT

I hold a Joint Master in Euro-Mediterranean Affairs that I obtained in Italy, France and Spain. I also studied in South Africa and hold a BA in English, Literature and International Relations. I speak Arabic, English, Estonian, French, German and Spanish. I believe politicians should remove the barriers between education and the labour market and prohibit exploitation and unpaid internships. They need to distinguish between volunteering and internships.

“Too often, young people are exploited for their labor, talent and skills, by being offered volunteer work or internships rather than jobs.”
