

Towards territorial equality

Eloi Laurent, Senior Economist, Sciences Po Center for economic research (OFCE), Paris

The concept of “territorial equality” was introduced in 2012 in the French public governance toolbox. On a very basic level, to think of territorial equality is to determine a theory of justice that can be applied to territories and to develop new indicators of territorial well-being. The presentation will review both those theoretical and empirical aspects of territorial equality in France.
