

Marguerita LANE is an Economist in the OECD's Future of Work team, leading a project exploring public policy responses to new forms of work across the OECD and EU. Before joining the OECD, Marguerita worked in economic consulting roles at London Economics and Ipsos MORI.