

Antonella NOYA is the Head of the Social Economy and Innovation Unit at the Centre for Entrepreneurship, SMEs, Regions and Cities. She coordinates the work on activities social economy, social entrepreneurship and social innovation. Antonella is currently coordinating a programme of work with the European Commission on social entrepreneurship. Antonella has a background of political sciences with a specialisation in legislative drafting and in economics of territorial development and urban planning. She speaks fluent English, French and Italian and fair Spanish. Antonella sits in various international and national scientific and steering committees and advisory boards (including the French National Steering Group on Social Impact Investing). She represents the OECD at the United Nations Taskforce on Social and Solidarity Economy, and at the GECES (Group of Experts on Social Economy and social enterprises) coordinated by the EC.