

Anu PARANTAINEN is Head of the Planning and Development Unit in the Education Division of the City of Turku, Finland. She has been working on vocational education, special education and study counselling for over 20 years. She has extensive experience on employers-employees co-operation and developing new learning environments. She is also responsible of different regional, national and international networks of schools, companies and other stakeholders.